 Hannah made this mosaic by adapting an ancient design and using vitreous glass and instructional books from the library including Complete Mosaic Handbook: Projects, Techniques, Designs by Sarah Kelly.

 Mr. Skull - Using inspiration from The Happy Hooker: Stitch 'n Bitch Crochet by Debbie Stoller, I crocheted a little skull I refer to as Senor Yorick, sewed a snap inside the back of his head and made a variety of bodies for him to enjoy from time to time. The bodies include: the anchorman, the pirate, and the drag queen (don't know if you can see the chest and leg hair around the lovely evening gown).

 Dish Towel - I crocheted this lovely dishcloth using the chevron pattern in 300 Crochet Stitches published by Harmony Guides.

I have always loved and valued the public libraries of Britain, and I owe them a great deal (and not only in unpaid fines). If knowledge is power, then the public library system gives that power to anyone who wants it.

What does the "Library Lovers" logo stand for?

The Swedish Library Association is conducting a campaign which will last until the General Election of 2010 and whose aim is to increase political commitment to publicly financed libraries. Sweden is the only Nordic country that does not have a national library policy. Consequently, Swedes do not have access to the full potential to be derived from a world-leading library system.

The lack of a concerted political stand in support of libraries has led to an alarming situation. Four hundred local public libraries have been closed down and 450,000 pupils are deprived of a staffed school library. There are fewer visitors to libraries, the number of book loans is decreasing, and the level of reading comprehension is sinking. All this is happening in spite of the fact that university libraries are in a phase of strong development. Electronic services

Posted on April 25th, 2008 by admin

Academy Award-winning actress, author and honorary chair of National Library Week Julie Andrews kicked off the 50th anniversary of National Library Week in Los Angeles.

Andrews spoke about National Library Week and the value of libraries and librarians before an audience gathered at ArcLight Cinema in Hollywood for an event with the Los Angeles-based Wonder of Reading. Joining her on stage were Los Angeles mayor Antonio Villaraigosa and Dick Cook, Chairman of the Walt Disney Studios, who Andrews honored for his work with Wonder of Reading, a nonprofit organization that renovates and stocks Los Angeles public elementary school libraries. - Contributed by Megan Humphrey, manager, Campaign for America's Libraries

“The library has always been a window to a larger world—a place where we've always come to discover big ideas and profound concepts that help move the American story forward”

(Barack Obama, 2005)
